

Supports Intensity Scale

USERS MANUAL

James R. Thompson, PhD

Brian R. Bryant, PhD

Edward M. Campbell, PhD

Ellis M. (Pat) Craig, PhD

Carolyn M. Hughes, PhD

David A. Rotholz, PhD

Robert L. Schalock, PhD

Wayne P. Silverman, PhD

Marc J. Tassé, PhD

Michael L. Wehmeyer, PhD

AAMIR

Table of Contents

	List of Tables	vii
	List of Figures	viii
Chapter 1:	The Supports Intensity Scale (SIS):
	Context, Purpose, and Overview	1
	Five Trends That Created the Need for the SIS	1
	The Spirit of the Age: A Focus on Community	6
	Overview of the SIS	7
	How the SIS Differs From Instruments That Measure
	Personal Competence	9
	Conclusion	12
	Appendix 1.1. Supports Intensity Scale	13
Chapter 2:	Administration of the SIS	23
	Interviewer and Respondent Qualifications	24
	Administering Section 1: Support Needs Scale	25
	Administering Section 2: Supplemental Protection and
	Advocacy Scale	33
	Administering Section 3: Exceptional Medical and Behavioral
	Support Needs	33
	Final Procedures	37
Chapter 3:	Scoring and Interpreting the SIS	39
	Overview	39
	Scoring the SIS	39
	Using the SIS for Classification Purposes	43
	Case Studies	46
	Comments on Ratings and Scoring for Three Case Studies	75
	Additional Scoring Examples	76
	Conclusion	76
Chapter 4:	Using the SIS to Develop Individualized,
	Person-Centered Support Plans	79
	A Support Needs Assessment, Planning, and Monitoring Process	80
	Three Examples of Individualized Supports Planning	81

	Benefits of Focusing on Support Needs in Individualized Planning	86
	Cautions in Using SIS Information in Relation to Person-Centered Planning	87
Chapter 5:	Potential Analyses Using Aggregate SIS Data	89
	Uses of Aggregate Data	89
	Cautions When Using Aggregate Data	89
	Descriptive Analysis (Summary Statistics)	90
	Resource Allocation Analysis	94
	Funding Analysis	95
	Covariate Analysis	97
	Conclusion	98
Chapter 6:	Technical Properties of the SIS	99
	Normative Information and Sample Selection	99
	Demographic Characteristics of the Sample	99
	Normative Scores	100
	SIS Reliability	101
	SIS Validity	104
	Conclusion	112
Appendix 6.1.	Demographic Characteristics of Standardization Sample	113
Appendix 6.2.	Supports Intensity Scale Normative Table for Converting Subscale Raw Scores to Standard Scores and Percentiles	117
Appendix 6.3.	Supports Intensity Scale Normative Table for Converting Sums of Standard Scores to a Composite Standard Score (SIS Support Needs Index)	121
References	125

Tables

Table 1.1. Differences in Adaptive Behavior Measurement Tools and the SIS	11
Table 2.1. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part A: Home Living Activities	27
Table 2.2. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part B: Community Living Activities	28
Table 2.3. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part C: Lifelong Learning Activities	29
Table 2.4. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part D: Employment Activities	30
Table 2.5. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part E: Health and Safety Activities	31
Table 2.6. Item Descriptions for Support Needs Scale Part F: Social Activities	32
Table 2.7. Item Descriptions for SIS Section 2: Supplemental Protection and Advocacy Scale	33
Table 2.8. Descriptions of SIS Exceptional Medical Support Needs	35
Table 2.9. Descriptions of SIS Exceptional Behavioral Support Needs	37
Table 6.1. Demographic Characteristics of the Interviewers	100
Table 6.2. Internal Consistency Reliability Coefficients for SIS Scores	102
Table 6.3. Standard Errors of Measurements for SIS Scores	103
Table 6.4. Test-Retest and Interrater Reliability of SIS Scores	104
Table 6.5. Median Discriminating Powers for SIS Subscales Item Validity Indices	108
Table 6.6. Intercorrelations of SIS Subscales With Rater Estimates of Abilities	108
Table 6.7. Means and Standard Deviations for SIS Subscale Raw Scores	110
Table 6.8. Intercorrelations of SIS Scores	110
Table 6.9. SIS Scores According to Low and High Estimates of Support Needs	112

Figures

Figure 1.1. Five major influences on needed supports	10
Figure 3.1. Computation of Home Living Activities subscale raw score	40
Figure 3.2. Computation of SIS Support Needs Index	41
Figure 3.3. Support Needs Profile	42
Figure 3.4. Classification based on funding patterns	45
Figure 3.5. Completed SIS for Darlene Simmons	48
Figure 3.6. Completed SIS for Juan Garcia	57
Figure 3.7. Completed SIS for Melvin Thurber	67
Figure 4.1. Four-component support needs assessment, planning, and monitoring process	79
Figure 5.1. Frequency distribution and annual reimbursements by SIS Support Needs Index (i.e., composite standard score)	91
Figure 5.2. Frequency distribution of annual reimbursements by SIS behavioral score	91
Figure 5.3. Frequency distribution and annual reimbursements by need for lifting	92
Figure 5.4. SIS summary profile (hypothetical data)	93
Figure 5.5. Regression of annual funding on SIS Support Needs Index (i.e., composite standard score)	94
Figure 5.6. Blockwise regression on funding amount	96
Figure 5.7. Level of independence by geographic region using analysis of covariance to adjust for the intensity of support needs	97